The European Council is composed of governments elected by citizens in national elections.

The European Parliament is directly elected by EU citizens.

The Parliament approves the European Commissioners through a democratic vote and select the Commission President from a pool of candidates nominated by elected leaders from the European Council.

The European Parliament is as crucial as the

Commission

since it is the second co-legislator. It also approves the EU budget and has control powers and the right
to intervene
before the European
Court of Justice.
